A LAND OF BEAUTIES

Located in northern Costa Rica, Arenal Volcano is a very popular destination in Costa Rica. There are a lot of tours that take place in the area surrounding the volcano, but hiking to the top isn't allowed. Tourists can also visit La Fortuna, a small town around 6 kilometers from the volcano.

Tourists can enjoy the rainforest, waterfalls, a volcano, the country's largest lake, and a diverse selection of hotels. Without any doubt, Arenal is the adventure capital of Costa Rica.

At the base of the volcano sits Costa Rica's largest lake, Lake Arenal. Fishing, kayaking, and stand up paddle boarding are some of the most popular activities at the lake. Views of Arenal Lake can be admired from zip-lines, hiking trails, and even on your way to your hotel. Sadly, people can't see the sunset because the lake is very low.

21) What is the text about?

- Hotels around Costa Rica
- A tourist spot in Costa Rica
- Costa Rica's natural wonders
- Tips for hiking the Arenal Volcano

THAT'S A MIRACLE!

An aurora, also called polar light, northern light or southern light, is a natural light display in the sky. People can usually see them in the high latitudes (Arctic and Antarctic) regions. Auroras are produced when the Earth's magnetosphere is disturbed by the solar wind.

An aurora around the North Pole is called the Aurora borealis or "northern lights". Around the South Pole it is the Aurora australis or "dawn of the south" or "southern lights". People can see them from long distances, stretching in the sky many hundreds of miles far.

Auroras can happen at any time, however people can only see them at night because their light is not as strong as the light of day. It is impossible to see them in the morning or afternoon. Many legends are associated with the aurora in all countries where this phenomenon regularly occurs. They are really important in their culture and folklore.

25) Where can people see the auroras?
